Visitors to the U.S. and Several Canadian Provinces Share Their Photos

UTAH

Last year, I and my youngest son, Fernando, made a trip from Miami, Florida to Los Angeles, California on two Gold Wings. First, I bought a new Titanium GL1800 in Miami (that is now home in Spain) and then we rented another, black Gold Wing, for Fernando.

We rode 8,500 km total and went to Deals Gap, Memphis, New Orleans, San Antonio, Roswell, Four Corners, the Grand Canyon, Monument Valley, Las Vegas, Monterey, California and finally L.A.

In all, we took more than 1,500 photos—a lot of them very good—of the landscape of the U.S., including this one in Utah's Monument Valley!

QUEBEC

The San Francisco Bay may have "The Rock", but we in the Province of Quebec have the Rochée Percé. If you're looking for a great ride (July to mid-August) with twisty roads, perfect scenery, enchanting hotels and gastronomic food combined with a touch of French-Canadian culture, you have to ride the Gaspé Peninsula.

Also, take the time to visit Bonaventure Island next to this wonder of nature (to see its thousands of birds and to whale watch). The folks there will take good care of you, and it is a must in one's motorcycling lifetime.

Julie and I did it on our black 2001 GL1800 with trailer, which has well over 200,000 kms on the odometer but still runs like new. This photo of her and our Wing was taken in the parking lot of our hotel in Percé, Quebec.

ONTARIO

This is a photo of me standing with my 2008 Honda Gold Wing and 2010 Gypsy trailer. We (my wife Julie and I) rode around Lake Huron in July of this year. It was a 1600-km trip, and this photo was taken at a rest area in Thessalon, Ontario looking out to Lake Huron.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Here is a photo of my Titanium Gray 2008 GL1800 at L'Anse aux Meadows National Historic Site on the northern tip of Newfoundland, Canada. It was taken while on a tour of the Maritime Provinces of Nova Scotia, Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada in June and July of 2011. This is beautiful country with friendly people and great riding!
